

Celebrations

We celebrate St David's Day on 1st of March in Cardiff, Wales. All the boys and girls wear traditional Welsh costumes and sing songs, dance and read poetry. All the buildings in town fly the national flag. They have street parades where people play the Welsh bagpipes. In the evening they eat some juicy roast lamb with potatoes. Delicious!

Don't forget St Patrick's Day! Try to pop over to Dublin on 17th of March because the whole city goes crazy. Everyone wears shamrocks, green clothes and paint their faces. In the evening people let off fireworks. People eat some special food, Irish soda bread, bacon and cabbage. You must come and see for yourself.

If you are still in the UK on 23rd April, why not visit London for St George's Day. In Covent Garden you can watch some medieval street theatre. Some people even wear dragon costumes. There are stalls that serve roast beef and Yorkshire puddings. Make it a date in your diary!

Questions:

1. Which is your favourite celebration and why?
2. Can you mention any special food in Hungary?